

Gender Review of National Adaptation Plan (NAP) Documents

As part of its ongoing initiative on gender-responsive NAP processes, the NAP Global Network has undertaken a systematic review of NAP documents posted on the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change's NAP Central to assess the integration of gender considerations.

The document reviews explored how gender considerations have been addressed in the documents, as well as how women are positioned. It is important to note that most of the documents do not include much detail on the process undertaken to develop the NAP document or on strategies for implementation and monitoring and evaluation. Consequently, a lack of evidence in the document does not necessarily mean that gender has not been considered in a particular aspect of the NAP process—it may simply indicate a lack of documentation or that there is additional work to be done to elaborate on particular aspects of the plan.

Below is a summary of the gender review of Haiti's NAP document.

Country	Haiti
Document reviewed	Plan National d'Adaptation au Changement Climatique (PNA) HAÏTI / 2022 - 2030
Gender and or women referenced?	Yes
Summary of gender references	The NAP includes gender sensitivity as a guiding principle, highlighting the fact that women, girls, and the underprivileged segments of the population are among the most vulnerable to climate change. Two of the NAP's four objectives also refer to gender or women. Indeed, the NAP aims to implement large-scale gender-sensitive programs and projects aimed at increasing resilience to adverse climate conditions in the priority sectors of the NAP and strengthen human capital, particularly that of women and girls, for adaptation planning, at least at the level of the most vulnerable local territories. To prioritize the different adaptation actions proposed as part of the plan, the improvement of women's living conditions was one of the criteria used. Finally, the NAP states that its monitoring and evaluation system will have to consider women's and girls' conditions.
Gender concepts referenced	Gender sensitive
Context for reference to gender	Gender as a guiding principle Gender-sensitive projects and programs as an objective of the NAP
Positioning of women	Particularly vulnerable group Beneficiaries of adaptation actions
